You may be eligible for protection from the STRF if you are a California resident or are enrolled in a residency program, prepaid any charges, and the loss or failure occurred after you paid the charges and before the course of instruction was completed. You are not eligible for protection from the STRF and you are not required to pay the STRF assessment, if you are a student in an educational program who is not a California resident, or if the loss or failure occurred before you paid the charges. The school closed before the course of instruction was completed. You may be eligible for STRF if you are a California resident or are enrolled in a residency program, prepaid any charges, and the loss or failure began earlier than 30 days prior to closure. If the loss or failure began earlier than 30 days prior to closure, the period determined by the Bureau. The State of California created the Student Tuition Recovery Fund (STRF) to relieve or mitigate economic losses suffered by students in educational programs who are California residents, or are enrolled in a residency program, who are prepaid any charges and the loss or failure began earlier than 30 days prior to closure. The STRF assessment is charged to a student’s account if the student is a California resident, or is enrolled in a residency program, who is prepaid any charges, and the loss or failure began earlier than 30 days prior to closure. The STRF assessment is charged to a student’s account if the student is a California resident, or is enrolled in a residency program, who is prepaid any charges, and the loss or failure occurred after you paid the charges and before the course of instruction was completed. You are not eligible for protection from the STRF and you are not required to pay the STRF assessment, if you are a student in an educational program who is not a California resident, or if the loss or failure occurred before you paid the charges.